Pages Thursday, December 24, 2011 Christmas is fast approaching! I can already feel the crazy beginning to set in...it's a time of year that can seem magical and restful, the beginning of the Christmas season when I can sit back and enjoy the stillness of a sparkling winter's day, a day when snow is in the air and goose bumps rise on my skin. I have been through a lot this past year...and I'm taking a moment to reflect on the gifts it has bestowed. A couple of weeks ago, my grandmother passed away. At a time when I was at the lowest point of my life, the Lord held a hand out of the darkness and through an online friend, I found the strength to pick up the pieces and put them back together. I knew I'd be okay. The Lord has blessed me with an amazing family. I know when the worst time is to be this close to folks, but I enjoy being in their company, even on difficult days. As an added bonus, they are all so utterly joy-filled! I feel blessed to be surrounded by such a godly family. And then there's the man I love. The one whose smile and laughter lifts me up when I'm down and the one who has watched me grow over the years. He is my greatest blessing...and I'm incredibly grateful that God chose to bestow his in my life. I know that the gift of time is what I most appreciate. Even as my obligations are consuming my time this time of year, I'm trying to be intentional about the moments when I can set my calendar to "free" and enjoy some time with God. So this Christmas, as our family settles in for our annual Christmas Eve feast, I'm trying to be open to the gift that is being given to me...the gift of rest, of peace, of understanding and acceptance. How are you spending your Christmas? I'd love to hear about it in the comments below. When I was younger, I always thought Christmas was synonymous with family and friends, but as I've gotten older, I've realized that it's really more than a time of shared joy, it's a time to lean in and let God lead us. And whatever God has for you this year, I hope it makes you feel more of His peace and joy. :) Hollie, I'm trying to be more

What's New In?

The Pen Tool and its variants are useful for painting and drawing, including realistic-looking fireworks and lines. The Gradient tools enable you to manipulate the colors of the pixels to create gradients. You can apply a gradient to a paint or brush tool. The Smudge tool works like the eraser, drawing a continuous line of pixels across an image. You can add a blur effect and create a background blur. The Adjustments panel is where you can apply dozens of popular adjustments to the images on your screen. Common adjustments include Levels, Hue/Saturation, Curves, and Vibrance. The History palette is where you can see and even undo previous paint operations. The Brush Panel lists all of your brush presets. These can be resized, moved, and renamed. The Tool Presets panel allows you to create custom brush tools. The Options palette contains many settings, such as how the brush affects the canvas, what happens when you make a stroke, and more. The Pencil Tool is similar to the Pen Tool. You can use the Healing Brush to erase imperfections on images. Use the Magic Wand Tool to select pixels and alter their color. The Gradient Map Tool can create a virtual color map, which you can then use to colorize another layer of an image. The Dodge and Burn tools can lighten or darken specific areas of your image, and you can control how much effect is applied. Use the Magic Eraser to remove unwanted elements on an image. Smudge tool Use the Selective Brush to select areas of an image and modify them with the Brush tools. Use the Liquify filter to manipulate the pixels on an image to create complicated visual effects. Liquify filters are available in the Filter Gallery. Liquify filter Liquify filters are available in the Filter Gallery. The Clone Stamp tool allows you to copy and paste pixels from one area of an image and paste them into another. As with the Brush and Pen tools, you can apply the Clone Stamp to paint tools or brush tools. This is useful for repairing damaged or corrupt images. The Eraser tool can be used to remove areas from an image. The Spot Healing Brush uses the pixel-by-pixel approach for healing the pixels in the selected area. You can even edit live crop selections, and improve these selections in real time. The Spray tool is used
