The first patient was a 79-year-old man with severe gastric ulcer. The patient developed acute renal failure due to gastric alkalinization (base excess -5mEq/l) after pyloric stenosis was resected during operation. On the other hand, the second patient was a 62-year-old man with chronic gastritis. He developed severe renal dysfunction after subtotal gastrectomy. They both had atrophic gastritis. Renal function was improved by potassium-free diets and proton pump inhibitors. Since chronic gastritis is frequently associated with gastric ulcer after gastrectomy, the pathogenesis of gastric alkalinization might be the overuse of achlorhydria-inducing agents.Field of the Invention The present invention relates to a nitride semiconductor and a method of fabricating the same. More particularly, the present invention relates to a nitride semiconductor and a method of fabricating the same which can improve the crystallinity of a nitride semiconductor by utilizing a metal organic chemical vapor deposition (MOCVD) process. Description of the Related Art In recent years, various electronic devices, such as a high frequency/high power electronic device, a high power electronic device, a high power sensor and a power semiconductor device, have been widely used in which a nitride semiconductor is used. Among these electronic devices, since the nitride semiconductor has a characteristic of wider band gap, it can have a function of blocking a high electric field applied at a drain region of a transistor and can be used to realize a high electron saturation velocity and can also have a high switching speed. Furthermore, since the nitride semiconductor has a good thermal stability, it is used to realize a high

We recently isolated a yeast heterokaryon fusing a wild-type rho gene with a mutant rho gene (formula; see text) caused by a single-base mutation at the rho gene [Ikeda, M., et al. (2000). Mol. Biol. Cell. 11, 439-446]. To elucidate the structural and functional roles of the rho protein in rho gene silencing, we analyzed the effects of a variety of internal deletion mutants of full-length rho proteins fused with enhanced green fluorescence protein on rho gene silencing. Our results showed that the N-terminal domain (amino acids 1-201) of Rho1, but not the C-terminal domain (amino acids 202-418), was essential for the normal Rho1 functions. Our results also showed that Rho3-13 (amino acids 531-1014), Rho3-57 (amino acids 534-934), and Rho4-31 (amino acids 576-969) are the minimal required domains for rho gene silencing activity. No single amino acid substitution in Rho1, Rho3, or Rho4 was essential for the activity. In contrast, mutating amino acids 29, 33, 39
